Unscheduled Act

Living Costs Shoot To Record Levels, Government Finds

Figures Mean Automatic Pay Boost for GM Employees

Washington, Aug. 25—(AP)—Your living costs have skyrocketed to a new record high, the government said today.

This means an automatic, three-cent-an-hour pay hike for some 265,000 General Motors employees. But for them and other wage earners the price picture painted by two federal agencies also means that:

1. It took $21.65 in June to buy the same food items that cost $10 back in 1935-39.
2. For a family of three that amounted to a $705 yearly "market basket" outlay as compared to the $695 rate in January and the World War I peak of $615 in June, 1920.
3. The price chart of all the things that make up the daily budget hit a new top of 173.7 on July 15. This is the consumers' price index, figured by the Bureau of Labor Statistics on a 1935-39 base of 100. It now stands 97 per cent higher than a year ago, 50.3 per cent above June, 1946, when most OPA controls were abandoned, and 76.2 higher than pre-war August, 1939.

Food, Clothing Up
Here is the way the BLS charted the average price rise between June 15 and July 14 for moderate-income families in large cities:

Goods and services—up 1.2 per cent (It rose 1.5 per cent between May 15 and June 15.)

Retail food prices—up 1.3 per cent. This marks a 12.3 per cent rise over a year ago, 48.9 per cent above June, 1946 and 131.9 per cent above August, 1939.

Fuel, electricity and ice—up 1.7 per cent, due chiefly to the recent coal contracts.

Clothing—up 0.1 per cent after declining in the May-June period.

House furnishings—up 0.6 per cent.

Rents—up 0.3 per cent as negotiated increases under the new rent law continued to be made.

Miscellaneous goods and services—up 0.2 per cent.

Nurse Is Allegedly Gang Mastermind

Carlinville, Ill., Aug. 25—(AP)—Mrs. Doris Brown, a hospital nurse accused by three gunmen of furnishing them information about their robbery victims, was held in Macoupin county jail here today.

The 30-year-old nurse was charged with being an accessory in the recent holdup of the Mill Cafe near Mt. Olive, Ill. The cafe owner, Frank Kosta, was slugged and robbed of $880.

Mrs. Brown was arrested last night in the East Alton, Ill., home of Vernon Harvey, 22, one of the three gunmen who are being held by Detroit, Mich., police. The three men told Detroit authorities that Mrs. Brown masterminded their robberies.

Besides Harvey, Detroit police are holding John Harris, 23, of Alton, and Richard Miller, 18, of Detroit.

Detroit detectives said Harris and Harvey admitted more than a dozen holdups and robberies in Michigan, Illinois, Missouri, Ohio and New York.

Mrs. Brown was arrested by Sheriff Carl A. Scheller of Macoupin county and Sheriff Dwight Whitlock of Montgomery county. She was questioned by Macoupin and Montgomery authorities Saturday night and released.

Bar Barrett from Ruling on Petitions For Progressives

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 25 (AP)—A temporary injunction restraining Secretary of State Edward J. Barrett from ruling on Democratic objections to Progressive party nominating petitions was issued today in Circuit court.

The Progressives obtained the injunction shortly after the secretary of state's office refused to accept petitions nominating a substitute Progressive candidate for secretary of state.

Barrett, a Democrat, said previously he became eligible to sit on the state electoral board, which will rule on the challenge to the Progressive ticket, after the withdrawal of Mrs. Rebecca Stiles Taylor of Chicago from the secretary of state race. Her withdrawal Barrett said, left him without a Progressive opponent.

Paw Paw Man Starts $800 Damage Action

Russell Rafferty, Paw Paw, has filed suit against John R. Edwards in Lee county Circuit court for $800 damages to his car which he charges resulted from an automobile accident on the Paw Paw-Earlville road July 10.

The suit charges that Edwards' car, driven by the defendant's son, John, 19, and traveling west on another road, was moving in excess of 50 miles per hour when it struck the Rafferty car, moving north on the Earlville road, driving it into the ditch.

Rafferty is represented in the case by Attorney Walter W. Stevens, Paw Paw.

Making Sure

Washington, Aug. 25 (AP)—The will of a 55-year-old woman, whose avocation was spiritualism, disclosed today she wanted her body to be unembalmed and unburied for two weeks to make sure she had not just put herself into a trance.

In the will, on file for probate, Miss Emma Von Toerne said her "investigation" into mystic realms might cause her to go into a cataleptic trance that others would mistake for death.

She added that she was afraid she might be buried before she awakened. Elaborating on her spiritualistic theory, the will said the spirit does not leave the body until decomposition sets in. Furthermore, it went on, "as long as the body is stiff, the spirit still resides there and is merely paralyzed."

Miss Von Toerne, an administrative assistant at the Maritime Commission, was found dead of natural causes Aug. 6.

Her attorney, Rees E. Gillespie, said that "to some extent" her wishes were carried out. It was certain, he explained, that decomposition had begun before she was buried on Aug. 6.

Dr. Murray Convinces RCAF Crackup Was Not 'Escape' Plan

Edmont, Alta., Aug. 25—(AP)—Grumpy and wan from 17 days in the bush, Dr. V. B. Murray, 61, returned to Edmont last night, vowing that his flying days are over.

The Washington, D. C. doctor-pilot has satisfied RCAF officials that his crash in the wilds of northern Alberta was an accident and that no desire to escape from civilization prompted his crackup at lonely Chip Lake, 80 miles southwest of his announced destination, Grande Prairie, Alta. But two weeks of wandering through the bush has cured his zest for air travel.

Dixon Jaycees Pay $500 Toward Radio Fund This Morning

Organization Announces Other Ventures in Its Campaign for Funds

The Jaycees today passed the $1,500 mark in the drive to complete payment for the new police two-way radio communications system installed here several months ago.

Earle Stagle, Jr., president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, this morning turned over a check for $500 to Mayor J. Fred Hammann in ceremonies at City hall. The money is to be applied to the radio fund.

The check brought to $1,500 the amount collected for the fund since the Jaycees undertook a series of promotions here several months ago to provide the city with its radio equipment for police and fire departments. The equipment cost approximately $2,200 installed.

Two Ventures Booked
The organization also has two new ventures booked here for the benefit of the radio fund.

Thursday at 7:30 p. m. the organization will sponsor an Old Timer's softball game at the Athletic field.

Coal Company Office Wrecked by Explosion

Ducktown, Tenn., Aug. 25—(AP)—The office of a coal company here was wrecked by an explosion which Sheriff Burch Biggs linked with election violence in Polk county three weeks ago.

No one was injured in the blast, which occurred early yesterday at the Presswood Coal company, the sheriff said. The cause of the explosion was unknown, he added.

Ducktown is about 30 miles from Benton, the seat of this rugged southeast Tennessee mountain county.

Dixon Commission Flees Torrid Heat

Hurrying to escape the wailing heat of the council room, the city council last night held the fastest meeting on record—an eight minute session.

Opening the meeting at 8:05 p. m. they received a petition for construction of a sidewalk on Sterling avenue to East McKennan street, signed by seven residents, heard Mayor J. Fred Hammann warn them to watch departmental budgets during the remainder of the year, and approved bills totaling $5,576.77 for payment before adjourning at 8:13 p. m.

The council turned the sidewalk petition over to Commissioner Joe E. Vailes street department for action.

Hiss and Chambers Assured One Will Get Perjury Trial

Brought Face to Face in Resumption of House Hearings Today

Washington, Aug. 25 (AP)—Alger Hiss and his accuser, Whitaker Chambers, confronted each other in the congressional spy hearings today and were told that "certainly" one will be "tried for perjury."

The statement came from Chairman J. Parnell Thomas (R-N.J.) of the House un-American activities committee.

Slowly, solemnly, Thomas said: "As a result of these hearings, certainly one of these witnesses will be tried for perjury."

Perjury is lying when under oath to tell the truth. Conviction would carry a possible jail sentence.

Hiss, former State department official and Chambers, now a senior editor of Time magazine, have told the committee widely varying stories.

What Thomas' statement implied was this: The committee intends to make a decision which one is lying and seek action against him in the courts.

Hiss first witness.

The 45-year old Hiss was sworn in as the first witness immediately after Thomas' statement.

Hiss then publicly admitted for the first time that he once had known Chambers, but said it was under the name of George Crozier.

At previous hearings, Chambers has accused Hiss of being a member of a Red underground in Washington in the 1930s. Hiss has denied it. Hiss also once testified publicly that he never knew

TODAY'S WEATHER STORY
Chicago, Aug. 25—(AP)—The late August heat wave kept scorching most of the nation today.

The Midwest felt the full effects of the blistering weather for the third straight day yesterday and federal forecasters said not much relief was expected until the weekend. Higher temperatures were forecast for most of the Atlantic seaboard today.

Temperatures dropped today in Montana and northwestern Canada but forecasters said conditions appeared unfavorable for the cool air to move southward. Some cooler weather was reported in North Dakota.

Yesterday's temperatures ranged from the middle 90's to over 100 from the southern Rockies to the Canadian border and northern Minnesota eastward through the Great Lakes region. As far as western Pennsylvania, the highest marks in the hot belt were 104 at LaCrosse, Wis., and Phillipsburg, Kan.; 101 at Marquette, Mich., and 100 at Milwaukee and Green Bay, Wis.

Government Urges Printers' Union Be Found in Contempt

Washington, Aug. 25—(AP)—The NLRB general counsel's office today asked that the International Typographical Union be held in contempt of court for insisting on closed shop contracts.

The union is under a five-month-old injunction against negotiating such agreements, outlawed by the Taft-Hartley Act.

In a critical move against the ITU in its fight to keep the closed shop, the National Labor Relations Board's prosecuting agency charged the union's top officers with having disobeyed and disregarded the injunction.

The restraining order was issued March 22 by Judge Luther M. Svygert at Indianapolis, headquarters of the ITU. It was there that Robert N. Donham sent his formal petition that the union be cited for contempt.

Carroll Martin, an NLRB attorney, filed the petition a few minutes after the Federal court clerk's office in Indianapolis opened this morning.

To Decide in "Day or Two"

Martin said Judge Svygert took a copy of the petition to his northern Indiana farm for study, and indicated he would decide "in a day or two" whether to order the union into court to show cause why it should not be adjudged in contempt.

If the judge grants the petition, the ITU would be given a limited time to file an answer and the court would set a date for a hearing.

The petition asked that the AFL union be stopped immediately from giving any further support—including all-important strike benefit payments—to the striking printers on Chicago and Hammond, Ind., newspapers. The ITU members there have been on strike since last November 24.

Papers are printed without ITU help by using a new photo engraving process for typewritten copy. How long the Chicago strike could continue without the aid of the International union is a question.

Henry Kaiser, attorney for the ITU, issued a statement calling the NLRB move a "crude and dangerous perversion of the administrative process."

"Needless to say, the ITU will resist this offensive abuse of public authority with its every resource," Kaiser said.

The union lawyer said Donham and his staff were "acting as the craven and obsequious servants of Senator Taft and the Chicago newspaper publishers."

The ITU contends Taft (R-Ohio) has "pressured" Donham's office to bring the contempt action. Donham has denied that.

Kaiser also called the allegations in the contempt petition "completely unfounded and fantastic."

The international officers named are President Woodruff Randolph, vice presidents Larry Taylor and Elmer Brown, and secretary-treasurer.

Rankin Easy Victor in Mississippi Poll

(By The Associated Press)
Mississippi voters are sending John E. Rankin back to congress for his 15th term.

The veteran advocate of white supremacy easily defeated two rivals in yesterday's Democratic primary. The party nomination is as good as election in that state.

Rankin's bid for another two years in the house was the outstanding race in congressional primary voting in three states: New York and South Carolina also picked candidates.

In New York, the state's eight members of the house who faced opposition easily won re-election. Among them was Daniel A. Reed, 72-year-old Republican member of the house since 1919.

Rep. Vito Marcantoni got the American Labor party's nomination in New York's 18th district without opposition.

The ALP also nominated Rep. Leo Isaacson in the 24th district. Isaacson was elected to the house originally with the backing of Henry Wallace, the Progressive party's presidential candidate.

South Carolina Democrats nominated James B. Hare, 30-year-old Saluda attorney and son of a former congressman, as U. S. representative from the Third district in a runoff primary. As in Mississippi, the Democratic nomination is tantamount to election.

In the Mississippi balloting, Rep. John Bell Williams also was renominated. He is a one-armed Air Force veteran.

Hawaiian Crash of Superfort Claims Lives of 16 Airmen

Collision in New Jersey Kills Nine Men in Army Transport

Hickam Field, Hawaii, Aug. 25—(AP)—Sixteen airmen died last night in the twisted, burned wreckage of an Okinawa-bound Superfort that crashed in one of the island's worst peacetime air disasters.

Four others were burned seriously.

One of the big bomber's four engines conked out three minutes after it took off from Barber's Point on another leg of its Far Eastern hop from the 98th Bomber group's base at Spokane, Wash.

The pilot was ordered to land at the Municipal airport, which adjoins Hickam Field.

The Superfort came in at an altitude of 150 feet and missed the Municipal airport. The pilot banked the plane in an attempt to circle and bring it back in but a wing caught a transport plane parked on a Hickam field taxiway.

The Superfort crashed into a concrete power substation and exploded. Names of the dead and injured were withheld by the air force pending notification of kin.

Newton, N. J., Aug. 25—(AP)—Six U. S. air force enlisted men en route to a religious conference, and three crew members of a C-47 transport, were killed yesterday after the big plane swooped out of a cloud bank and collided with a B-25.

The disabled C-47 plummeted to the ground near this north-west New Jersey community, crashed and burned. The B-25, a wing tip sheared and its three-man crew unaware of the disaster, returned safely to its Stewart field, N. Y., airbase.

Crewmen of the B-25 said they had been cruising at an altitude of about 7,000 feet when the transport zoomed out of a cloud. They reported a "not too severe jolt."

Eye-witnesses said the C-47

Family in St. Louis Finds Many Friends

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 25—(AP)—The James J. Burns family has found a lot of unknown friends, but the one thing they want most apparently is lost.

Their son, Larry, 20 months, was born with cancer. He is expected to die within a few months from the disease which has spread from an arm to his chest.

With medical bills mounting and Burns staying home from work to be with the pun-racked boy, a spontaneous fund for the family has risen to $1,300. The fountain pen company for which Burns works has continued his salary.

Many contributions were raised by children setting up lemonade stands and similar projects after newspapers told of the family's plight.

"I'm amazed at the way folks have helped us out," Burns said. "It hits me so hard I can hardly talk about it."

Mrs. Burns is due home from a hospital today with a daughter, born July 4. They have another son, J.

Wrocław, Poland, Aug. 25 (AP)—Some 500 scientists and professional men from 14 countries met in this lower Silesian city today to map plans for world peace.

The assembly is known as the World Congress of Intellectuals. Intellectual leaders of France and Poland jointly arranged the three-day session to draft a program for "safeguarding the peace" and to answer "warmongers, imperialists and all those who seek to break the peace."

U. S. Proposal on War Rules Is Turned Down

Stockholm, Sweden, Aug. 25—(AP)—A United States proposal to give captured army doctors and sanitary prisoner-of-war status has been turned down by the international Red Cross. The vote, taken at a conference here last night, was 31 to eight.

By the existing Geneva convention of 1929, medical personnel has the status of immunity. Captured doctors are supposed to be repatriated as soon as possible.

Sublette Planning Special "Day" to Aid Hospital Fund

Sublette will stage a special "day", probably Sept. 25, in an effort to raise funds still needed for the community's hospital project, it was announced today.

The decision to hold a "day" in Sublette came at a meeting of a board of directors for the hospital project, recently elected. The board includes R. G. Lauer, president; Wilson Roemich, secretary; Reuben Dingers, treasurer; L. J. Vaessen and V. O. Bonnell.

The board members were authorized to take whatever steps deemed necessary to go ahead with the purchase and preparation of the hospital.

Continuance Voted

They were chosen at a special meeting last week at the Sublette Community building, called to decide whether the hospital should be opened or whether donations should be returned to contributors. The large crowd which attended the meeting voted to go ahead with plans.

The board has pointed out that there is a sufficient amount of cash available to pay for the dwelling and hospital, but they add that funds to proceed with repairs and operation of the hospital are lacking.

The special "day" will be staged to raise money for that purpose. The board has tentatively set the celebration for Thursday, Sept. 25.

Catholic Archbishop Hits Semi-Nude Rites

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 25 (AP)—Archbishop William Duke of Vancouver assailed last night the "rapidly growing practice of semi-nude beauty contests for every imaginable objective."

Addressing the sixth annual convention of the Canadian Federation of Convent Alumnae, the Roman Catholic Archbishop said beauty contests are barred to Catholic women "who realize in conscience the danger that they could be occasions of sin to others."

"You would have to be an iceberg," he declared, "to be in the same room with a semi-nude woman and not be subject to immoral ideas."

Intellectuals Ponder Way to World Peace

Action Is Regarded as Regrettable But Not Really Serious

Consulates in 'Frisco, Vladivostok and New York To Be Closed

(By The Associated Press)
Consular relations between the United States and Russia were severed today.

Secretary of State Marshall accepted the Russian order for closing the June U. S. consulate in Russia at Vladivostok, and for shutting down the Russian consulates in New York and San Francisco.

The new divergence in American-Russian relations is regrettable but not a serious affair, Marshall said.

There was no question of severing diplomatic relations. The Russian action resulted from the dispute over the refugee school teachers in New York and the American demand that Soviet Consul General Jacob M. Lamakin of New York leave the country for "abuse" of his official status in New York during the investigation of three Russian teachers who refused to return to the Soviet Union. President Truman formally revoked Lamakin's credentials.

Marshall noted the Russians still have the Amtorg trading concern in New York to conduct business affairs in this country. He said consular sections of the Russian embassy in Washington apparently will continue. "There also was official contact through the United Nations at Lake Success."

Reds Repeat Charges

The Russians repeated their charges that Mrs. Oksana S. Kosenkina, a school teacher fearful of returning to Russia, had been kidnapped. Actually she jumped three stones from the Russian consulate in New York to freedom. As an aftermath, the U. S. last week demanded that Russia recall Lamakin.

Russia countered by closing her New York and San Francisco consulates and telling the U. S. to shut its office in Vladivostok and not to open one in Leningrad, as

Charge of Cruelty Rouses Judge's Ire

Atlanta, Aug. 25—(AP)—A father and step-mother accused of forcing their two small children to pull weeds from 7 o'clock in the morning until 6 o'clock at night without a drink of water will have to answer in court.

Juvenile Judge W. W. Woolfolk placed Mr. and Mrs. William S. Cox in $500 bond yesterday for an appearance in Fulton County court on charges of cruelty to children.

The judge also took custody of the children, Martha Ann, 7, and her nine-year-old brother, Donald.

In addition to the weed pulling, the parents were charged with leaving Martha Ann stretched on tiptoe in an apple tree with her head fixed in a crotch so that if she relaxed she would choke.

They inflicted this punishment, a report to the judge said, because they claimed the child stole 25 cents from a housekeeper.

Judge Woolfolk commented that it

Something Borrowed From the West

Some Japanese brides are deserting their traditional many-colored bridal costumes, right, in favor of the Western wedding gown. Japanese models display the Eastern and Western costumes at a fashion show for wives of men of the 11th Airborne Division at Hokkaido.

Relatives Share Estate of Wiped Out Family
Tuscola, Ill., Aug. 25—(AP)—Relatives of a farm family wiped out in an April, 1947, railroad crossing accident will split their $45,000 estate.
This was decided yesterday by Judge Martin E. Morthland in Douglas county Circuit court. Killed in the accident were Mr. and Mrs. Philip Waltz and their infant son.
They are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred L. Durnil of Thomasboro, Ill., and five brothers and sisters. Included in the estate are 266 acres of farm land and $5,000 in personal property. The Waltz farm was at nearby Newton.

one-half of the estate goes to Waltz' sister, Irene, and the other half to Mrs. Nichols' closest relatives.

See Berlin Peace, But Remember Red Revolt Objective

Moscow Doesn't Want Peace, MacKenzie Points Out

By DeWitt MacKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
The latest conference between Premier Stalin and the western ambassadors is said in diplomatic quarters to encourage hope for an east-west settlement of the battle of Berlin.
If we took this as a basic for speculation, we would be entitled to believe that a settlement of the whole German imbroglio might be achieved. Indeed, a well-informed source in Moscow suggests as much. And with such a start we could keep on pyramiding until all the differences were ironed out and we had world peace.

However, if our analysis isn't going to run away with us we first must recall the fundamental basis of the quarrel between Soviet Russia and the western world. That is the declared determination of Moscow to carry out world revolution for the destruction of "capitalistic" governments and for the establishment of communism in all countries.
We must start from that premise. We must recognize that Moscow doesn't want peace, for the reason that it would stymie Bolshevism's aim of communizing the world. The Reds might make truces from self interest, but these would be only pauses in the global revolution.

John Foster Dulles, foreign policy adviser to Governor Thomas E. Dewey, Republican presidential nominee, laid down a very clear statement about communism in a speech yesterday at the assembly of the World Council of Churches in Amsterdam. He said: "The Soviet regime is not a regime of peace and, indeed, it does not purport to be. It may not, and I hope that it does not, want international war. But if so, that is a matter of expediency, not of principle. Violence and coercion are the accepted methods, class war being, however, usually preferred to national war."
"It is inevitable that orthodox communism should reject peaceful ways, except as a matter of temporary expediency, because it rejects the moral premises that alone make possible the permanent organization of peace."
That strikes me as a fair summary. So we must arrive at the conclusion that any agreement about Berlin or Germany as a whole will be merely a truce, and not a step towards general peace, so far as Russia is concerned.
Why a truce at all? Well, the Russians aren't in a particularly happy position. As I have pointed out in previous columns, their offensive aimed at the conquest of western Europe has bogged down. They are up against determined democracies, reinforced by the Marshall plan.
Moreover the Russians are finding difficulties in consolidating their gains. Among other things the Soviet zone in Germany is suffering from a shortage of food and fuel. The Red revolution in Greece is being crushed. Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia is openly defying Russia. There is anti-communist ferment in numerous satellite states.
Then, of course, the rock-ribbed stand which the western allies have been making against Red hostilities like the savage Berlin food blockade has had its effect in showing Moscow that the democracies mean business. Russia doesn't want war and intends to halt short of anything which might cause it.

So it wouldn't be surprising to see the Muscovites "pause" for consolidation in Europe. Meantime they suddenly have launched a widespread offensive in Southeast Asia under direction of a Cominform headquarters at Bangkok, Siam.
It looks as though eastern Asia might be the Armageddon for the stand against communism.

Public Aid Expenses $116,884,076 for Year

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 25—(AP)—Public aid expenses amounted to $116,884,076 during the fiscal year ended June 30, the Illinois Public Aid commission said today. The total was $11,812,838 higher than the preceding year.
Old age pensions cost the most—$63,522,652—and went to 127,080 persons. Other totals were: Aid to dependent children, 77,080 persons, $22,027,130; blind assistance, 4,622, $2,461,613; and general relief, 62,807, $20,245,432.
The total cost to the state for 1948 fiscal year payments was $65,066,546. Federal contributions and local taxes accounted for the balance.

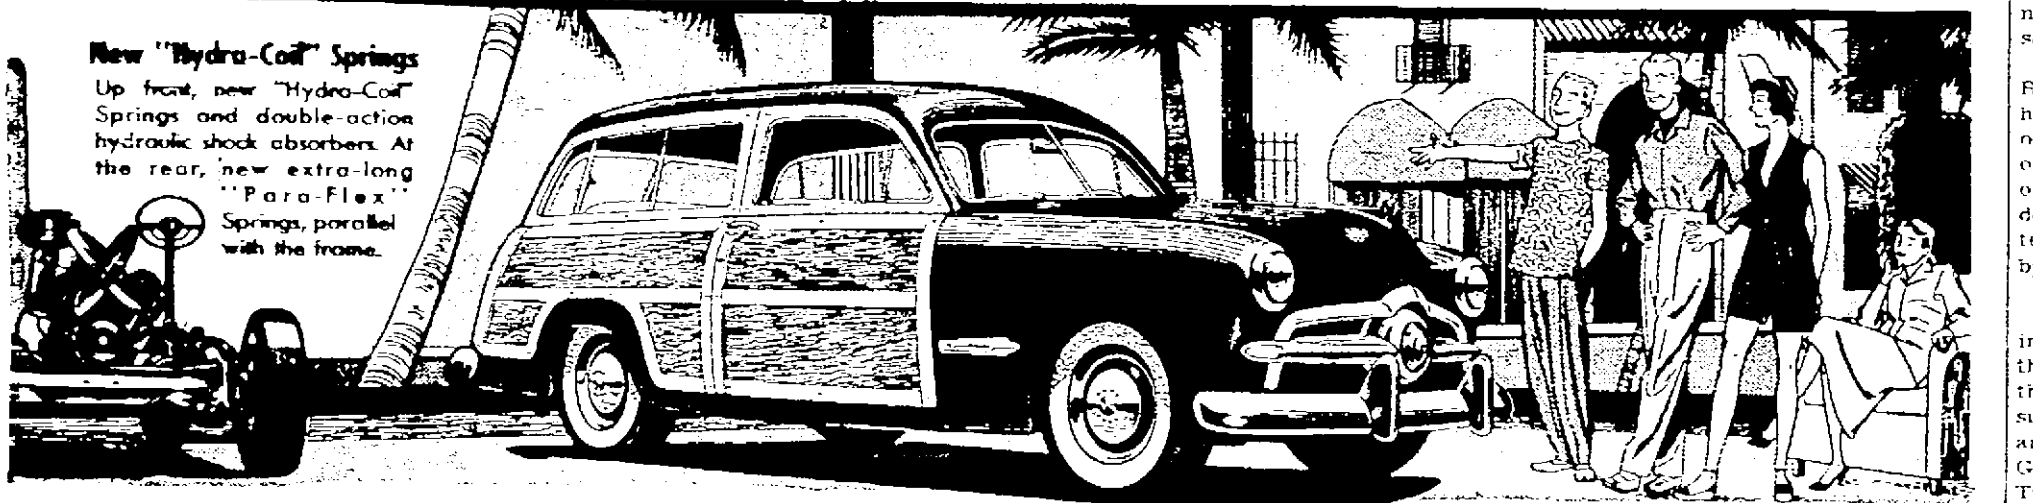

Shoots Wife Because of Unanswered Phone
Chicago, Aug. 25—(AP)—Police said last night that a jealous husband shot his wife and killed himself because of an unanswered telephone call.
The officers found Frank Sticherberry, 48, dead on the stairs of his second-floor flat with a bullet wound in the temple. A pistol was beside him. At the bottom of the stairs was his wife, Loretta Ann, 44. She had been shot three times but is expected to recover.
Detective Philip Derrig said Sticherberry, a truck driver, had called home during the morning but that the call was unanswered because Mrs. Sticherberry was outside hanging up clothes.
When Sticherberry returned home, he accused his wife of keeping company with other men and fired upon her, Derrig said as she attempted to run from the house.

Congressional Life No Bed of Roses in Arthur Edson View

Every Few Years Your Job is Up for Grabs
Again, He Wails

By ARTHUR EDSON
Washington (AP)—A congressman's lot is not a happy one. Oh, it looks nice enough, on paper. Salary, $12,500 a year. Expense money, $2,500, tax free. More expense money for hired help. More for stationery. More for travel allowance.

Then it must be fun going home, the big frog in the local political pond.

But after talking with congressmen on this subject, I have reached this conclusion:

The senate? Well, if you insist that job lasts for six years.

The house? Sorry, I've already taken a job as a plumber's helper.

All 435 representatives must be elected this fall. The competition, in most districts, has been intense.

Why?

The alleged lucky fellow who gets the election has the job for only two years. How would you like to have your job open to all comers every two years?

How would you like to have to campaign—an expensive operation—over a congressional district in an attempt to prove that you're still the logical man, that you should keep the job?

But you get the job. Here are some expenses you may have overlooked.

For appearance's sake, it's best to keep your house in the home district. You'll have to keep an other place here, of course, and places in Washington are hard to find and expensive.

Those wonderful speeches you'll make. You'll want the voters to have copies of them. So you'll have them printed, at your expense.

Good people from back home will drop in to see you daily. You are no chapskate. So you'll take them to dinner—and pick up the check.

You'll kick in generously to your party's campaign fund.

All right. You won't get rich, but you make the grade. You satisfy your voters, or at least 51 per cent of them. You stay on.

But it probably will be years, with 434 equally ambitious representatives around, before you have much influence.

And it definitely will be years, since congress uses the seniority system, before you head any important committee.

When you're about to become a big shot, what happens?

You're a Republican, and there's a Democratic landslide. Or vice versa. Out you go.

I talked about this once with Rep. Dewey Short (R-Mo.), a congressman for 16 years.

He recited the drawbacks, and added:

"The worst of it is, you're forever criticized, criticized, criticized. I really can't figure out why anyone wants this job. I guess it just gets in your blood."

It must at that. For Short, like most of his colleagues, is campaigning for re-election like all get out.

That's why I think I'll stay clear of politics. If I must have a habit, I'll get one easier to break.

ILLINOIS EDITORS GUESTS OF GOVERNOR GREEN AT STATE FAIR

Editors and publishers of newspapers from all sections of the state were guests of Governor Dwight H. Green at the Illinois State Fair on Friday, Aug. 20. The picture was taken just before the party left the Executive Mansion in a dozen buses for the trip to the fairgrounds. After a visit to the "Year Illinois" exhibit, the newspaper men and women were taken to the Junior Department building for luncheon. The remainder of the day was spent in viewing the various fair attractions.

In the foreground are Governor Green, Governor Earl Warren of California, Republican candidate for Vice President, Senator C. Wayland Brooks and Mrs. Brooks, with Adjutant General Leo M. Boyle on the left and Assistant Adjutant General Clay Donner on the right. Governor Warren was the guest of Governor Green and was the principal speaker at the Governor's Day program, Thursday, remaining over to meet the newspaper party.

Some of the world's leading churchmen go behind closed doors to work out a composite if not a united, view as the basis for a significant church pronouncement on east-west differences.

In Four Main Groups
For practical work of the assembly, the delegates have been concerned with the church's "message to major problems in the contemporary world." The group concerned with "the church and international disorder" has emerged as the most important of these.

"Unquestionably the most intense thought and vigorous discussion will center upon the so-called east-west confrontation," said Dr. Henry Pitney van Dusen, president of the faculty of Union Theological Seminary in New York.

East-West Conflict Causes Council of Churches Argument

Delegates Get Down to Serious Discussions of Situation

Amsterdam, The Netherlands, Aug. 25 (AP)—The east-west conflict has brought the World Council of Churches to its feet.

Delegates have listened for three days to introductory speeches concluding the first part of this church assembly. They have heard agreement on the futility of war and the need for peace. Conflicting east and west views have been voiced.

Today they got down to brass tacks in perhaps the most vigorous and heated discussions of the assembly to see what steps the churches can take to ease a world situation which has boiled up to crisis at Berlin.

New York, speaking for the assembly.

"Here members will seek both for fuller critical understanding of the issues and for steps which the churches might take toward easing the problem."

Two conflicting points of view were expressed yesterday before this group, with delegates intently listening to both—John Foster Dulles of the United States for the west, and Prof. Joseph L. Hromadka of Czechoslovakia for the east.

Dulles challenged Communism and declared that the Soviet Communist regime was not for peace and "does not purpose to be." Hromadka declared that the world is witnessing the end of western supremacy in the world because of "anxiety about the advancing social transformations under the leadership of the Soviet Union."

Find Protection for Humans From X-ray And A-ray Damage

Scientists Experiments Open New Approach To Problem

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE, Associated Press Science Reporter
Buffalo, N. Y. (AP)—A surprising start toward protecting humans from some bad effects of atomic bombs or X-rays was shown today by five Chicago scientists.

One of these bad results is anemia. Radiation from atomic bombs or hospital X-rays can destroy bone marrow, the factory that makes red and white blood cells. When the marrow is damaged, production of these cells falls off and anemia results.

The surprise is a way to prevent damage to the bone marrow factories, by fighting fire with fire. It is explained in an exhibit at the International Congress on Hematology by Drs. L. O. Jacobson, N. H. Bloch, E. K. Maras, E. Gaston and E. L. Simmons of the Argonne National Laboratory and University of Chicago.

One big dose of radiation destroys the bone marrow of normal animals they found. The animals got anemia and it took a long time for them to recover.

Works in Animals
They took other animals, and first made them anemic before exposing them to the dose of X-rays or neutrons. This was done by bleeding them, or giving them a drug, phenylhydrazine, that ruptures red blood cells.

These animals, already anemic, escaped any damage to their bone marrow. They escaped it even when given doses of radiation that probably would kill a human being. They weren't made more anemic by the radiation. And they recovered quickly from the induced anemia.

The induced anemia had stimulated the bone marrow to make more blood cells, Dr. Jacobson explained and this greater activity of the cell factories apparently protected the marrow from radiation damage. Exactly how it is protected hasn't been learned yet.

Work on Solution
This same kind of fire-against-fire protection probably would occur in humans, Dr. Jacobson said.

ENJOY YOUR EATS
If you suffer from acute gastritis and "Ulcer Symptoms," if your call bladder kicks up, you'll find relief with Dr. Stephan's Prescription. Just ask for No. 13123, or file at Henwood's Rexall Drug Store.

An anemic person with normal bone marrow presumably would not suffer damage or at least so much damage to his bone marrow factories as the non-anemic person. This would apply to one dose, not too strong, of radiation. Repeated exposures to radiation will kill even the anemic animals.

The discovery is a big step toward protecting humans from radiation.

It wouldn't be practical to bleed people, making them anemic, before they undergo X-ray treatments for cancer or other diseases, or before they face radiation hazards in atomic energy plants. Nor could everyone be bled or given a drug to produce anemia when an atomic bomb attack was expected.

The significance is that other chemicals can be sought which would stimulate the production of body cells were more vulnerable to radiation damage when they were actively growing and dividing. Instead, the opposite seems to be true, Dr. Jacobson said. They resist damage. The protection would be in stimulating the cells before a person was subjected to radioactivity.

Cain Disease Slows Rise in Philippine Sugar Production

Manila, P. I. (AP)—A fungus disease is slowing the spectacular recovery of the Philippines' sugar industry, government officials said. As a result, sugar production estimates for the 1948-49 crop year have been revised downward by about 20 per cent to 650,000 short tons. An increase of 250,000 tons over the preceding year.

The fungus, named the Eup disease, saps the juice from the sugar cane, lessening the yield progressively until the crop is valueless. The disease, new to the Philippines, has spread to all the principal sugar producing islands.

Biggest Problem of School Men: Where to Put Youngsters

Approach of Fall Term Finds Many Officials Really Puzzled

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 23 (AP)—Some 1,194,000 Illinois public grade and high school students will answer fall term school bells. Nearly everywhere, the big question is, "Where to put them all?"

Most city and many rural schools will open Sept. 7. Scattered rural institutions in southern Illinois already have begun classes, and others throughout the state will start them Monday.

Vernon L. Nickell, state school superintendent, said the enrollment estimate represents an increase of 32,000 elementary pupils over a year ago and more than 60,000 over the fall of 1946.

Grade attendance has been pushed steadily upwards in recent years by the soaring wartime birthrate. High school enrollment ments have held comparatively steady.

"Although there is no way right now to tell how many children will enter schools for the first time, I believe this year's beginning class will be the biggest the state has had," Nickell said.

Many Problems Foreseen
"It will cause problems in almost every city and in some rural districts," he added.

Briefly, Nickell sketched the statewide picture this way:

In some cities, kindergartens will have to be moved into temporary quarters or even abandoned to make space for the bumper crop of first graders.

In a few instances, school authorities have rearranged basements into classrooms. Others have rented nearby church buildings for kindergartens.

While widespread expansion of permanent facilities goes slowly forward, makeshift buildings obtained from Army surplus and other sources are being pressed into service particularly in Chicago but downstate too.

The overall teacher outlook is improved although still far from rosy.

The Illinois Education Association

tion and Nickell both foresee fewer teachers with emergency certificates than the 3,300 who held them last year. Yet, shortages of teachers for the lower grades and for special high school subjects were reported acute.

Qualified instructors in agriculture, home economics and such specialties as music were "extremely short," the I.E.A. said.

As a result of progress in school administrative reorganization, about 7,000 districts are expected to operate during the coming term as against 10,000 three years ago.

More than 100 new unit districts with better than 100,000 pupils enrolling will be functioning for the first time.

A Thought for Today

They Pay Their Way

Around election time, political parties dig up what figures they can to pin the high cost of government on each other. And they are probably right in their accusations. Over the years, the American people have been demanding and receiving more and more from their government, whatever political party was running it.

The full list of "free" services provided from Washington is provocative reading for any taxpayer. In order to protect the public interest, the government has come to do many things for special interest groups that they would otherwise do for themselves at private expense. Why shouldn't the private beneficiary pay?

It is a pleasure to find one group asking itself just that question. American business, which uses government services heavily, is more and more arranging to pay its own way. An example of this trend appears in a report from the Department of Agriculture recently published in an article by Tom Farley, writer of books and articles on dogs and their doings.

Apparently the makers of better grade dog foods wanted some certification from the department to distinguish their products from others less nourishing, since all dog food looks pretty much alike once it's in the bag. They could have demanded the service from the department on the basis of its value to the public. Instead they asked for inspection and offered to pick up the check.

For more than a year now, government inspectors have covered the plants of all first-grade canned dog manufacturers, and the labels have carried certification that the food complies with approved standards of cleanliness and quality. The bills are footed by the manufacturers, each one paying his proportionate share.

Perhaps there aren't many opportunities of this kind. Perhaps the dollars-and-cents savings of all of them put together wouldn't abolish the national debt. But the self-reliant spirit behind these plans is the thing that has made our country strong.

The name "Empire State" applied to New York dates back to 1784 when George Washington after a tour of the state's harbors, waterways and fertile acres, called New York the Seat of Empire.

As Pegler Sees It

By WHISTLEBLOWER PEGLER

(Copyright, 1948, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

New York, Aug. 24—It is a strange fact that the intelligent American has passively submitted to impairments of his citizenship by gangs of union high-binders which he never would tolerate and the courts would condemn if they were attempted by the government in its own name.

If President Roosevelt's government had tried to sell jobs, licenses or work permits to the people, forbidding employers to hire them unless they could produce paid-up cards, we would have had a revolution.

The people have a very practical acquaintance with the local agents of government. They can picture the graft and demoralization that would quickly follow such an order.

But in the early thirties most citizens had an absurdly high opinion of the sordid parasites who ran the union racket in the beautiful name of "labor." They didn't know that the "labor movement" was corrupt and actually a blueprint for not until Roosevelt had trapped them in the union racket—a factism. They found out, but government agency once removed.

Under Roosevelt's union system, private gangs of high-binders with pass-words and modern constitutions inflict persecutions and impair the citizenship of the people by communists and restrictions which no public authority would think of. Unionism became the New Deal's unofficial department of fascism.

The Negro fieldhand in the poll-tax states of the southern tier occupies a status of dignity by comparison with that of a pianist, black or white, under Jimmy Petrillo, or a miner under John L. Lewis.

If he doesn't pay his poll-tax he can't vote.

The pianist and miner have to pay their union poll-taxes, but still they can't vote. That is, they vote, but with the prior understanding that their votes have no value. Petrillo has written constitutional authority to nullify any election result. Lewis has the power to count the votes and determine the results. And these two are remarkably virtuous fellows. They don't steal.

The Negro fieldhand who fails to pay his poll-tax still has a right to work.

But not the musician or miner. Or the carpenter, plumber or teamster.

Every month some 15,000,000 ostensibly free Americans must pay tribute to the fascist subsidiary of the Democratic party and the Democratic administration or go idle. It has been said that the Taft-Hartley law broke down that compulsion by forbidding closed shop contracts. But that is an exaggeration. The closed shop is an established fascist system and it still exists with absolute no legal restriction on the dues and fees or the uses to which the money may be put.

A boss unioner literally may

They'll Do It Every Time

BEFORE HER VACATION—

By Jimmy Hatlo

put an entry in the books, paid to self, $1,000,000, and the national government will not even inquire that it will intervene to see that any worker who raises a protest is driven out of the job if the union votes him out. All union constitutions impose a job-tax. All provide large fines for conduct which is not forbidden by the public laws.

They all contain the compulsory draft for semi-military picket service, which means rioting. A man driven into a union by Roosevelt's labor board may have to commit the crime of violent insurrection by rioting against the police. For refusal to commit a crime against his country he may be expelled for life. In that case, he may flee to some other section, change his identity and start life again. Under a system of absolute efficiency, however, he would be hounded and barred from lawful work at his trade forever. What with fingerprinting and the exchange of personal data required by employers and unions, the power of total and permanent unemployment for refusal to commit a crime is becoming more efficient.

During the war, Roosevelt's own unioners were allowed to dodge the draft automatically. Joe Curran, a fellow proud of his pugilistic physique, was deferred throughout the war because he was president of the National Maritime union. He didn't have to ask for his own deferment. The union did that for him, but he ran the union.

Another great indispensable was a gangster named Posner, alias De Lorenzo, who served the great cause by snatching the Brewster aircraft plant. Finally, after millions of decreed men had gone to war, the scandal of this racketeer's dirty reputation blasted him out and the army got him for a short term.

A unioner who ran the long Communist-inspired strike at which probably caused the death and wounding of thousands of Americans was not called up until it was almost over over there.

But the worst manifestation of this fascism was the sale of deferments to slackers. When the "unessential" classifications were listed there was a rush to the "essential" jobs. And there, at the gates, sat the union slackers with their cashin-bays. A million slackers joined the unions and were exempt. Any one who refused to join and pay the graft was turned back to his draft board for induction.

So, actually Roosevelt used the draft law, designed to raise a citizen army, to drive another million head into the unions, subject to call for rioting, sit-downs, vandalism, or any other criminal acts commanded by the boss unioners.

The plane was on its way from Bolling field, Washington, D. C., to Danbury, Conn. Air force officials described the six enlisted men as lay leaders of religious thought in their respective units. They were going to a religious meeting at West Redding, Conn.

Bolling field identified four of the six as Pfc. Fred Anderson, 18 of Duluth, Minn., whose sister is Joan H. Anderson of Turtle Lake, Wis.; Pfc. James E. Battleship Iowa Will Be Retired

Washington, Aug. 25—(AP)—In another week, the Mighty Mo, will be this country's last battleship on active duty.

But a light aircraft carrier and eight destroyers are coming out of mothballs for a stepped-up program of anti-submarine training. The Navy in announcing this last night said the reason is the series of revolutionary developments in underwater fighting since wars end.

Thus by retiring the battleship Iowa about September 1, the Navy plans to release more men and money for the anti-sub program. The Iowa will join 13 other battleships laid up in the reserve fleet.

That will leave the Missouri—the vessel on which the Japanese surrender was signed—the only battleship actively afloat.

The 11,000-ton carrier Cabot will be reactivated in about a month, and the eight destroyers will begin rejoining the fleet in January.

Bitter Reprieve

By Drexel Drake

SABEL WILSON arrived at Police Headquarters a bit breathlessly in response to Lieutenant Talent's invitation. She used only the edge of the large chair beside her desk, and her teeth fretted her trembling lips.

"You've arranged at the bank, Miss Wilson, to have the remainder of the day off?" Talent queried.

"Yes, Lieutenant."

"Are you familiar at all with Mr. Sterling's home in Clifton?"

"With some of it. I've been out there often doing Mr. Sterling's work, during the last month when he didn't feel able to come down."

"That's fine. After all, it is to be your house, isn't it, as part of the residue of his estate?"

"Truly, that's embarrassing to me, Lieutenant. I can't account for Mr. Sterling doing that."

"But he had no near kin... no natural heirs. I imagine he was glad to show his appreciation of your long, loyal service. Now, Miss Wilson, at the time his wife was... when she died, did Mr. Sterling turn over any special duties to you?"

"I can't recall anything special."

"There was something he mailed you from Edgemoor Country Club that morning, wasn't there?"

"Some file material he had with him, yes. Miss Wilson's fingers tightened their hold on the arms of her chair."

"Do you recall returning that material to him?" Talent asked.

"Yes, I returned it."

"When? In what way?"

"Miss Wilson wet her lips. "Well, he had phoned me on Saturday morning to meet him at the florist, to help select flowers for the funeral, and he suggested that I bring that material with me."

"Just suggested?"

"Heally, Lieutenant, this is difficult for me."

"It has a definite purpose, Miss Wilson, as you can see from the material he brought you."

returned the material to Mr. Sterling at the florist's."

"Yes, I gave it to him. There was no comment."

"Thank you. Then what did you do for him?"

"Just a simple errand. He gave me a package to deliver and I was to pick up a roll of newspapers for him."

"To whom... and from whom?"

"He put them in a drawer of his desk. I doubt that he ever looked at them."

"Do you know what was in the package you delivered?"

"Miss Wilson's brows gathered. "Certainly not, Lieutenant."

Talent smiled. "You must please try to be patient with me, Miss Wilson," he said. "Now, you remember the name Davenport at the Crossroads Hotel just from that one instance, do you?"

"No, that isn't correct, Lieutenant."

"Oh. You made other deliveries to this Mr. Davenport?"

"Yes, I think he became an investment client."

"But you only think that. You don't know what you delivered to him for Mr. Sterling at any time?"

"No, I haven't any idea."

Talent rubbed his chin. "When did you make those other deliveries to Mr. Davenport?"

"Well, they began right after the end of 1946. That first occasion, you remember, was in May, 1946. It was each month of 1941... yes, I'm sure of that, because Mr. Sterling went into the Marines in December, 1941... it was each month of 1941 that I took an envelope to Mr. Davenport."

Talent smiled disarmingly but she followed with his next question. "Miss Wilson, would you mind telling me what the envelopes contained?"

you saw him? Were your deliveries made to him personally?"

"Yes, Lieutenant, invariably to him personally in the lobby of the hotel, and I should know him if I saw him."

Gladys Scholl
Is Bride in
Aug. Ceremony

East Jordan United Brethren Evangelical church was the scene of the mid-August wedding of Gladys Laura Scholl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clark E. Scholl of Polo and Charles Bain, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Bain of Rochelle. Rev. John H. Osborn performed the single ring ceremony at 7:30 in the evening.

Eleanor Hummel played a 15 minute prelude of organ music preceding the ceremony. Arnold Scholl sang "Because" and "All ways" and during the service "The Lord's Prayer."

Baskets of white gladioli, ferns and candelabra decorated the altar of the church.

Given in marriage by her father, the pretty bride was gowned in heavy white satin, fashioned with a bateau neck, long sleeves, fitted bodice and a tunic effect flowing into a graceful train. She wore a finger tip veil edged in lace and held in place with a white satin braid. Her cascade bouquet was of red and white roses and she wore a single strand of pearls, a gift of the groom.

Miss Phyllis Scholl, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, wearing a pale green tulle gown fashioned after the bride's. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow and white flowers.

Miss Barbara Bain of Chicago, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid wearing a pink gown similar in style to that worn by the maid of honor, and carried a bouquet of blue and white flowers.

Russell Badeen of Sycamore served as best man and ushers were John Smith, friend of the groom, and Irvin Scholl, brother of the bride.

The bride's mother chose a navy street length dress with matching accessories and the groom's mother was attired in a street length dress of black crepe with matching accessories. Both wore corsages of pastel flowers.

Miss Irene Scholl, sister of the bride, was in charge of the guest book and Miss Bernice Hummel took care of the gifts.

Reception in Parlors
A reception for 75 guests followed in the church parlors. Mrs. Maurice Scholl cut and served the wedding cake. Miss Eunice Breneman of Davis presided over the punch bowl and Jean Parks and Miss Elaine LaFevre served. Mrs. Walter Hummel, Mrs. LeRoy LaFevre, Mrs. John Osborn and Mrs. Clarence Parks also assisted at the reception.

Following a wedding trip into Wisconsin, Mr. and Mrs. Bain are residing near Franklin Grove. The bride is a graduate of Dixon high school and Northern Illinois State teachers college. She taught for two years at Lee Center where she will continue teaching. The groom graduated from Rochelle high school and is also a graduate of Northern Illinois State teachers college. He was in service and will teach in Steward this coming year.

Out of town guests at the wedding included friends and relatives from Springfield, Rochelle, Oak Park, Davis, Franklin Grove, Ashton, Sterling, Dixon, Chicago, Sycamore, Guttenberg, Ia., and Dodgeville, Wis.

Deloris Gilmore-
Neil Germanson
Are Wedded Here

At 9:30 Saturday, August 14, Deloris June Gilmore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gilmore of 320 Lincoln avenue and Neil Charles Germanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Germanson of 1226 Peoria avenue were united in marriage at the Rectory of St. Patrick's church. Father Roberts performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride was attired in an aqua crepe street length dress with white accessories. White candles formed her corsage.

Mrs. Isabelle Bradley, close friend of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a beige dress with white accessories and a corsage of white rose buds.

Donald McCoy, brother-in-law of the groom, was best man.

The bride's mother was attired in a brown and white print silk dress and brown accessories. Tan and green accessories were worn by the groom's mother with her navy print silk dress. Both wore corsages of white baby mums.

Breakfast At Nachusa
Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the Hotel Nachusa for the wedding party and immediate families. Pink and white glads and toll white candles decorated the table that was centered with a two tiered wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and groom standing under a white wedding veil.

The bride attended Dixon Public schools, and Dixon high school. She is employed at Pribe and Sons.

The groom attended Saint Mary's school and Sacred Heart Academy. He is employed at the Dixon Cut Sole company.

The newlyweds are now at home in their newly furnished apartment at 1711 First street.

Jones and Frazer on Rent Advisory Board for Vicinity

Join Badger, Judge and Welch on Panel for Dixon, Reveal

Appointment of two additional members of the Dixon rent advisory board by Tighe E. Woods, national housing expediter, was announced today by Philip O. Driscoll, rent director for the Dixon area. The new members of the board are Atty. Edward A. Jones of 105 First street, and Bernard J. Frazer of 515 East Fellows street, principal of the Dixon high school.

In addition to these new appointments, Woods has asked the following present members of the board to continue to serve: Atty. Warren H. Badger, 109 Galena avenue; Martin Judge, 515 Highland avenue, a factory engineer; and L. J. Welch, 102 First street, real estate operator and insurance broker. The board will be representative of the affected interests in the community as required by the new rent law, Driscoll explained.

The appointments by Woods were made from nominations received from Gov. Dwight Green in order to obtain balanced representation of landlord and tenant groups plus adequate representation of public interest groups on the board.

Woods has expressed the belief that with the establishment of representative boards under this program, "they will have the confidence of tenant, landlord and the general public and will be in a position to perform the important functions provided for them under the rent law."

There will be a meeting of the members of the board tonight at 7:30 in the offices of Welch & Brader Real Estate company, 102 First street. At this meeting the new members will take the oath of office and elect their own chairman.

Boards are authorized under the law to make recommendations to the national housing expediter on: (1) Removal of rent control in an area, a portion of an area, or classes of housing accommodations when the demand for rental housing has been reasonably met. (2) The general adjustments of rents in an area, part of an area, or classes of housing accommodations. (3) The operations generally of the local rent office, with particular reference to hardship cases.

In addition, boards are authorized to consider individual adjustment cases coming before them and to make recommendations to local rent officials on these matters. Before recommending any such individual adjustment the law requires the board to give notice to the parties affected and to hold a hearing at the request of either party.

A representative of the Rockford area rent office visits Dixon on the second and fourth Tuesday of each month at their location in the basement of the postoffice building.

Teen-Age Cult is Growing; Time for Parents to Revolt

Don't Let That Starry Eye And Fuzzy Cheek Fool You, Warn

By DON WHITEHEAD

Washington—(AP)—This is a call to arms for every mama and papa with a teen-age offspring.

Now is the time to revolt, comrades, against those bright-eyed, super-charged young darlings who are pushing us oldsters into a corner, making us creak before our time.

Anybody who gets misty-eyed in the presence of tender, helpless youth had better wake up to the stern facts of life in the year 1948. Don't let that starry look and fuzzy cheek fool you.

This younger generation is no more like you in your youth than a buzz-saw is like a kitten.

Just the other day the papers carried a story of a 12-year-old child—narrow, young woman—who returned to Ohio from a nursing trip in the Belgian Congo.

This eighth grade Diana with nerves of iron had invaded dark-

Beach, Calif., are spending this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lambert Malach. Mrs. Rothwell's husband will join her some time this week.

Mrs. Leona Austerlitter and daughter Edna of Aurora came Saturday to spend a week's vacation with Catharine Dinges and other relatives in Sublette.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dillenborg of Aurora spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Malach and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Full, Mrs. Essie Brunley of Mendota and Mrs. Leo Full were Monday afternoon shoppers in Sterling.

While we've been looking the other way, a regular teen-age

est Africa and shot down: two elephants, seven buffalo, five leopards, three hippopotami, two rhinoceroses, four crocodiles, and other wild game too small to mention.

A few weeks ago, an 18-year-old boy from Georgia was in Philadelphia as a delegate to the Democratic national convention. These two events may appear to be entirely unrelated, but don't be alarmed. The teen-agers are closing in on us. And Congress had better investigate.

My own suspicions were aroused when my 16-year-old daughter began (1) wearing my best shirts, (2) merely tolerating me and my friends, (3) taking over the lone bathroom as her private dressing room, and (4) conspiring by telephone with her friends.

The teen-agers already have tied up the telephone communications in the nation's residential areas—and there is danger they will spread this paralysis into the business areas, too.

I have observed my daughter's telephone technique closely. She starts a conversation at the telephone table normally enough. Soon, however, her body is twisted into a pretzel shape. (I guarantee it will shut off both circulation and respiration if you try it.) Both feet are entwined in the rungs of the chair while she eats a large cheese, ham, lettuce and tomato sandwich as a pre-supper snack.

(Eating, I find, does not interfere with the steady conversation of the teen-ager, a physiological phenomenon which science has not yet explained.)

When I return to the room two hours later, she is stretched on the floor sipping a soft drink, her feet propped against the wall above her head, the telephone cradled on her shoulder.

Other parents confirm this is the usual posture teen-agers assume in slowly strangling telephone communications.

While we've been looking the other way, a regular teen-age cult has grown up devoted to the beauty, wit, charm, intelligence and emancipation of its own members. It has its own newspaper, radio and magazine propaganda, and doesn't depend on our old folks for counsel and advice.

But before this thing goes too far, comrades, we'd better lay down some rules to protect ourselves.

(1) Mama and papa demand equal rights in the bathroom.

(2) We refuse to be treated like children by our children.

(3) We demand a return to our telephone rights.

(4) We demand our offspring act their age so we can enjoy our own.

(5) Unless these demands are met, we'll reopen the woodshed or a reasonable substitute.

It's our last chance, comrades. Now or never!

Progressives Name Negress on Ticket

Chicago, Aug. 25—(AP)—Illinois Progressives today nominated Mrs. Pauline Tigh Road, a Negro social worker of Chicago, as their candidate for secretary of state.

An attempt will be made to elect her mate with the Secretary of State's office at Springfield today to substitute it for that of Mrs. Rebecca Stiles Taylor of Chicago, Negro newspaper columnist. Mrs. Taylor withdrew suddenly last week without explanation.

Mrs. Road, 48, an employee of United Chicago of Chicago, she formerly was registrar of Wilberforce University.

Secretary of State Edward J. Gurnea, a Democrat, said he became eligible to run on challenge.

$34,000 Judgment Settled for $29,000

Sycamore, Ill., Aug. 25 (AP)—A $34,000 judgment, awarded a widow and her two children under the dram shop act, has been settled for $29,000.

The defendants were two Sycamore taverns, owned by F. Bergeron and Roscoe Lee, and James R. Wyde, owner of the building housing one of the taverns, and the Fargo hotel.

Mrs. Irene Schulz of DeKalb, widow of George Schulz, a mechanic killed in an automobile accident on Jan. 14, 1947, receives $17,052 under the settlement. Her daughter, Georgeann, 15, gets $3,411, and her son, Michael, 3, $8,529.

The suit charged that Schulz and two other men killed in the accident, Robert Hamilton and John Lindemann, had been drinking in the taverns before the tragedy.

Circuit Judge Harry W. McEwen allowed Mrs. Schulz and her children $34,000. They had asked $29,000. The agreement on $100,000 was reached after defense counsel agreed not to appeal the award. Two other suits each asking $50,000 have been filed by heirs of the other accident victims.

State Approves Polo Plans for New Well

The state sanitary water board approved plans yesterday for a new well, pumping equipment, well house, and connecting piping in Polo.

The board also approved plans for water main extensions in Evergreen park, ground storage reservoir and pumping facilities in Abingdon, and granted permission for constructing a new sanitary sewer system and sewage plant at Lawrenceville.

Strip Teasers Get Break on Taxation In New N. J. Law

Trenton, N. J.—Strip teasers and other specialty entertainers including name bands will have a bit more cash in their pay checks under the provisions of a bill just signed by Acting Gov. John M. Sumner, Jr.

The bill exempts them from paying the 1 per cent unemployment compensation they have been making the last two years. The new law changes a New Jersey Supreme court ruling of two years ago which made them employees of the place in which they were appearing and liable to payment for state unemployment compensation payments.

The law sponsored by Sen. Farley, Atlantic City Republican, exempts them unless they work for the same employer more than 10 weeks in any calendar year.

Sen. Farley sponsored the law, he said, because the Supreme court ruling placed "an unfair and unjustifiable burden" on owners of amusement places particularly the seasonal ones in resort cities.

Judge's Efforts at Reconciliation Fail

Chicago, Aug. 25—(AP)—Superior Judge Walter R. O'Malley, after failing in an effort to bring about a reconciliation of the estranged parents of Pamela Frances Lamphere, yesterday ordered an operation within 60 days for their 22-month-old malformed baby.

Judge O'Malley met with Pamela's parents, Fred, 23, and Irene, 21, to discuss the medical report which recommended a series of operations in attempts to correct the child's condition. She was born with her bladder outside her body.

Lamphere had asked the court to order an operation. Mrs. Lamphere, in a divorce suit still pending, opposed surgery. Later, however, she agreed to the operation.

New Deal's Sending Floods to Russia at Trask Picnic

Rockford, Ill., Aug. 24—(Special)—The Republican controlled congress, while dedicated to only supported and extended essential activities and projects that will maintain a competitive and progressive agricultural program for all the American people, United States Senator Brookings declared today in a speech at the annual Trask Bridge farm meeting.

"One of the most important factors in attaining these outstanding results has been the cooperation of congress," the senator continued. "Through legislation and appropriations for research, education, conservation, credit, rural electrification, and other programs, the nation as a whole, as well as agriculture, has benefited as a result of these programs and service."

Senator Brookings reminded his audience that "the efficiency of the American farmer and his ability to apply scientific practices to agriculture are outstanding in the world today." As a result the consuming public has received great benefits in the way of a greater abundance of healthful food.

He said a great deal of strength in our American agriculture can be traced to successful research and that these programs must continue to develop our efficiency in both production and distribution to eliminate waste and extravagance.

We must continue our research to improve our use of agricultural resources comparable to the research that has gone into synthetic substitutes and also constant development of new uses for all agricultural products," Senator Brookings declared. "The coordination between the Department of Agriculture, the congress and the farmers themselves is evidence of the universal desire to develop, maintain and preserve agriculture as one of the most important and vital segments of our American economy."

Backs Conservation
The future life and strength of our nation depends upon the conservation of our soil. About one quarter of our crop land is being damaged by erosion at a rapid rate. The congress has recognized the great importance to city dwellers, as well as farmers, of this work, in providing funds for research and cooperation payments for conservation practices.

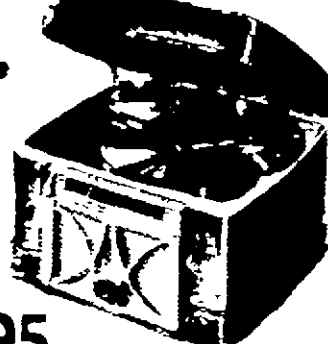

"Constant development of better living conditions on the farms is vital both to our present farmers as well as to encourage American youth to choose agriculture as their life's work."

"The 80th congress provided more funds for the extension of the rural electrification administration than any other congress in our history. But while congress was trying to provide the means of getting electric power and equipment to our farms in America, the New Deal administration was shipping almost a billion dollars worth of electrical machinery, apparatus and copper wire abroad. Nearly 100 million dollars worth of this equipment, apparatus and wire was shipped to Soviet Russia and her satellite nations."

"This presents a difficult problem. We are now forced to be engaged in gigantic defense programs demanding additional manpower, money and material for generating capacity in America because of the aggressive international policies of these various Communist countries to whom we have been shipping materials and equipment so badly needed at home. Almost all our people are our friends, even during the war when the New Deal administration many people in public life in America were glorifying her and extolling her virtues as our gallant ally. It has been, and will be, no consistent course, and the Republican party is dedicated to preserve our American agriculture but we are also dedicated to eliminate from our offices, agencies and bureaus, those lazy-minded individuals who would install socialism or Communism in the place of our American way of life that has added the rays of the world."

The 80th congress while dedicated to economy, supported and extended essential activities and projects that will maintain a competitive and progressive agricultural program for all the American people, United States Senator Brookings declared today in a speech at the annual Trask Bridge farm meeting.

Senator Brookings reminded his audience that "the efficiency of the American farmer and his ability to apply scientific practices to agriculture are outstanding in the world today." As a result the consuming public has received great benefits in the way of a greater abundance of healthful food.
